CHEMULFO, Korca,
October 24, 1897.

"Before leaving Yokohama I attended the theatre that I might be able, as I promised, to tell you something about how theatrical performances are conducted in Japan. The actors' profession in that country does not hold the same grade as in our own. There are no Henry Irvinis or Edinw Booths to adorn and elevate the stage, and the plays are of a very low type. Until recently only the lowest classes frequented the theatres. The buildings are generally unpretentious; but on the days when a performance is to be given, the exteriors are covered with posters and streamers. Inside, the hare board walls and the absence of chairs give one the impression of being the abare. In fact, a beam with a stage is built with a turn-table in the middle, and while one scens is being enacted on the semi-circle towards the audience, the next is being prepared on the other side. When one scene is completed, the turn-table slowly revolves and the next appears in view. At the conclusion of an act the curtain is drawn. The dressing-room is in the end of the building opposite the stage. The actor leaves it and reaches the stage by walking down a gangway in plain view of the audience. The play begins at 10 a, m. and continues without intermission until 7 p. m. The people bring their luncheons, and, between the acts, cooles go about the theatres selling tea. The acting is very good, but the movement of the play is extremely slow, a conversation between two characters sometimes lasting two hours.

The Boston left Chefor for Chemulpo September 24, arriving here the next day, after a very pleasant trip. This is my first visit to Korea. It has a delightful climate, but that is all. Ehemulpo is very uninteresting. The population is, I suppose, between two indices were, and they said it was very interesting. I was to suit yield and the rank of euperor about two weeks ago. ### THE THIEF CAUGHT.

Benwood Police Capture the Shoe Store Robber in a House-Boat.

The boldest robbery that has occurred in Bellaire lately was that of Nicholson &Ball's shoe store Thursday night. The thieves cut a pane of glass out of a rear window and after galning an entrance window and after galning an entrance who unlocked the back door. The robbery was not known until yesterday morning, and when the proprieties entered they found shoes strewn all over the floor. The thieves were choice in their selections, and took away from their selections, and took away from theiry-two to forty pairs of the best gentlemen's shoes in the setablishment—enamled and cloth tops being their preference. The full loss is not definitely known yet, but is from $100 to $200. With the number of shoes taken they must have had a vehicle to remove them, and the selection made was of the very best quality.

The Benwood police were early notified of the affair, and kept a sharp look out yesterday. A stranger was discovered to be selling shoes around Benwood at riddulously low prices, and investigation led to his connection with a house hoat.

Certainly, for the mechanic, human ingenuity has never produced a better liniment than SalvationsOil, which now stands unexcelled for curing his sprains and bruises caused by a fall; or cuts and wounds the result of an accident with his tool or saw.
